Marie Louis de Nonancourt, Director and Proprietor of Laurent Perrier to her son Bernard in 1945 before he took over the estate- ' You will never be a good director, unless you are a good worker'. Bernard took this to heart working at Lanson and establishing his abilities before taking over Laurent Perrier in 1949. He is the current owner and proprietor to this day.

CHARDONNAY

2015 Neudorf "Moutere", Nelson	$ 150.00

2013 TOM Church Road, Hawkes Bay $ 250.00

Remember Oak confers texture as much as the typical characters of vanillin and toastiness. If you like full bodied rich white wines, that will match with red meat dishes, an oaked Chardonnay is very hard to go past.

Sauvignon Blanc

2017 Babich, Marlborough $ 40.00

2017 Dog Point, Marlborough $ 48.00

2017 Ata Rangi Raranga, Martinborough $ 50.00

2017 Neudorf, Nelson $ 50.00

New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc is famed for its pungently aromatic green capsicum (bell pepper), gooseberry & lush passionfruit characters. Styles can vary from this traditional style to those showing fresh-cut grass, tomato stalks, melons & lime.

Pinot Gris

2013	Rod McDonald The Trademark, Hawkes Bay	$	135.00

Whilst Bordeaux varieties and Syrah dominate the production of full-bodied reds in New Zealand, there is also a small but increasing number of other varieties succeeding beyond these. Sangiovese, Dolcetto and Montepulciano are planted throughout New Zealand and are doing particularly well in Matakana & Northland. There are also some exciting examples of Zinfandel & Tempranillo, primarily within the key red wine producing region of Hawke's Bay.

Pinot Noir

2016	Ata Rangi Crimson, Martinborough	$	68.00
2017	Maude, Central Otago	$	70.00
2015	Dog Point, Marlborough	$	93.00
2016	Amisfield, Central Otago	$	95.00
2014	Prophet's Rock, Central Otago	$	100.00
2015	Schubert Marion's Vineyard, Wairarapa	$	110.00
2014	Ata Rangi, Martinborough	$	165.00
2007	Domaine Gachot-Monot, 1er Cru-Les Poulettes, France	$	175.00

New Zealand Pinot Noir shows the fine tannins and elegance of good Burgundy with the added excitement of vibrant, intense fruit and secondary herbal, spice and game characters. Distinct regional styles are beginning to emerge from New Zealand. The Wairarapa wines are full-bodied and dense with rich dark plum and chocolate flavours. Marlborough and Nelson show complex, tight structure with bright cherry flavours. Waipara Pinot Noir shows hints of pepper and spice whilst Central Otago are known for their herbal notes, berryfruit and firm tannins.
